"WOMAN IN WHITE" IS ENEMY OF REDS

A mystic "Woman in White" is reported by the Soviet journal Rabotchi Golos, of the voice of labor, to be rallying the anti-Reds against the Soviet in Russia. The woman, who is popularly known as the White Tsarina on account of the color of her garments she and her companions wear, and because of her claim to the throne of the Romanoff's, first made her appearance at Kourgan. She claims to be a grand-niece of Alexandria I, grandfather of the late Tsar and declares she is in possession of the miraculous Ikon of Iversk held in veneration by all sections of the Russian people.

In February last, it is reported she, with a band of followers, seized Cheliabinsk, cut off railway communication, killed several Bolshevik commissaries and engaged and destroyed some Red regiments stationed in that region. The Central Soviet is said to have offered a reward of 1,000,000 rubles for "The Woman in White," dead or alive.

EUROPE'S LOSS IN WAR 40 MILLIONS

Washington, Aug. 28.—Due to war influences, ten European nations engaged in the world war show a potential loss in population of 35,320,000 persons since 1914, according to a statistical research conducted by the Society for Studying the Social Consequences of the war of Copenhagen, made public today by the American Red Cross.

At the end of 1913, the society reports, these nations had a population of 400,850,000 and under normal conditions this population should have increased by the middle of 1919 to 424,210,000. However, it had fallen by that time to 389,030,000 which led to the conclusion by Danish statistical experts that the loss of actual and potential human life in these nations approximately forty millions.

Causes of the abnormal falling off in population were attributed in the society's report as follows:

Killed in war, 9,819,000; deaths due to augmentation of mortality, economic blockades, war epidemics, 5,301,000; fall in birth rate due to mobilization of fifty-six million men, between 20 and 45 years of age, 20,200,000.

MOTION-PICTURES DANGERS

The Sheffield (Ala.) Standard asks as to whether the same interests that secured control of the distilleries and breweries may not be securing the control of the motion-picture industry. We cannot answer the question, but judging by some reports we hear as to some of the motion pictures played in different parts of this country, the rottenness of the liquor interest was scarcely greater than the rottenness of some of the pictures displayed and their influence would be almost as damaging to moral character as was the liquor traffic. The public may yet have to see that the censorship of motion pictures is very rigid.—Manufacturers Record.

CONSTANTINE HAS VISION OF THRONE

Paris, Aug. 28.—Former King Constantine of Greece, still hopes to regain his throne, claiming he never abdicated and that he is still considered the Greek sovereign by a majority of the people of that country, says the Lucerne correspondent of the Excelsior. In the course of an interview with the de-throned monarch, the correspondent was told that Premier Venizelos would not be able to so conduct affairs in Greece as to give the country her true place among the nations.

tions. Constantine denied having in any way been involved in the attempted assassination of the Greek premier in this city on August 12.

FORAGE CROPS FOR HOGS

Clemson College, Aug. 28.—Information Card No. 12, entitled Forage Crops for Hogs in South Carolina, has been issued by the Extension Service as a guide to farmers in the planting and use of alfalfa, rape, oats, rye, vetch, clover, peas, beans, peanuts and sorghum as grazing crops forswine. The card gives data on such subjects as when to sow, how to sow, seed needed per acre, stage to graze, period of grazing, carrying capacity, etc.

Six of the crops listed may be sown in the fall as given below, and farmers are urged by C. L. Morgan, Extension Animal Husbandman, to prepare to put in sufficient of these crops to care well for their hogs.

Alfalfa.—Sow September to early October, thirty pounds per acre, broadcast or in drill. Graze when eight to ten inches high.

Rape.—Sow September, November four to six pounds per acre, broadcast or in drill. May be sown with oats or rye. Graze when eight to ten inches high, seventy to one hundred and twenty days after planting.

Abruzzi Rye.—Sow September—November, one to two bushels, broadcast or in drill. May be sown with rape or vetch. Graze when four to six inches high, eighty to one hundred and twenty days after planting.

Vetch.—Sow September—November, fifteen to twenty pounds per acre, broadcast or in drill. May be sown with oats or rye. Graze when six to ten inches high, ninety to one hundred and twenty days after sowing.

Crimson Clover.—Sow September—November, fifteen to twenty pounds per acre, broadcast or in drill. Graze when six to ten inches high, one hundred days or longer after sowing.

First new bale of cotton for Sumter was received Friday morning and sold for thirty cents the pound.

ONCE A SCRUB, ALWAYS A SCRUB

How do you suppose the cow of 46 centuries ago—26 centuries before Christ—would look compared with your cow? Well, she might not conform to any standard classification, but, judged on general appearance, she would outclass a great many American cows of today. A comparison has been made in picture slides by the United States Department of Agriculture. Pictures of cows of the twenty-sixth century B. C., found on Egyptian monuments, have been made into stereopticon views and placed alongside pictures of scrub cows of today. The same is done with Assyrian horses and some scrub horses of the present time. They illustrate the fact, "Once a scrub, always a scrub." These slides are distributed as a part of a series on better livestock production by the States Relations Service.

PAPER CONTAINS ASSASSINATION OF LINCOLN

J. D. Day, colored, of Anderson, has in his possession a copy of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, in which the story of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln is given in detail. The paper is colored a dark brown from age and the style used by the paper is quite a curiosity when compared with the metropolitan sheets of today. The writer of that sad story contained in the Herald did not attempt to go into lengthy details, but gave statement after statement that were made by witnesses to the deed and statements from officials and the president's surgeon.

In the same paper the operations of the Confederate armies are given under the heading of "The Rebels." Day says he has had the paper more than twenty years, it being given him by a company in which he was employed. He prizes it highly and says he will continue to keep it.

James Washington, negro rapist, must pay death penalty for his horrible deed. This is the verdict of a jury and the sentence of the court at Greenville. The crime was committed upon a fourteen year old girl near Pelzer. He is to be electrocuted September 24th.
